

Dermatology

Summer is round the corner, and as such so are the rash, sun protection, and sunburn treatment requests along with it! Community pharmacies are on the front line when it comes to providing health advice in the summer months.

WHY should I attend?

Skin cancer has more than doubled in the last 10 years and it is now one of the most common cancers in 15-34 year olds. Community pharmacists and their teams play a key role in giving advice on sun protection and treatment of minor ailments such as sun burn and prickly heat.

Come along to this dermatology event to refresh your knowledge on the potential harms of sun exposure, how to advise patients on staying safe whilst enjoying the outdoors in the summer period, and the treatment options for the complications of sun over-exposure.

The speaker for this event is Dr Keith Freeman, Senior Dermatologist at City Hospitals Sunderland NHS Foundation Trust.
